Louisiana Tries To Block Moves At Integration

Gov. Davis Calls Special Session Of Legislature

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — State segregation leaders prepared today for an 11th hour attempt to prevent public school integration here on Monday.

The Louisiana Legislature resumes its 12-day special session in Baton Rouge Sunday afternoon, less than 24 hours before five Negro girls are due to enter first-grade classes at two all-white schools.

Lloyd J. Rittiner, president of the Orleans Parish School Board, said no further meetings were planned. The board, under orders from U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright to integrate schools Monday, voted last Thursday night to transfer the Negroes.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis summoned legislators back to the Capitol two days before the present special session, which he had called, was due to end. A new 30-day special session, called by Davis last Thursday, begins Tuesday upon the end of the current one.

The special session earlier this week passed 28 bills designed to preserve school segregation, including bills to give the legislators control of New Orleans schools. But Judge Wright, acting on a suit brought by New Orleans citizens, issued a restraining order telling the state to keep hands off the schools.

In other developments:

(1) City police assigned a 24-hour guard to Judge Wright. A new segregation law makes any official working to bring about integration subject to arrest by state police.

(2) Warrants were served on state police chiefs and other officials. An order signed Thursday by Judge Wright prohibits all mayors, sheriffs, chiefs of police and district attorneys from interfering with New Orleans schools.

Jury Finds Accardo Guilty On Tax Count

CHICAGO (AP) — A jury has convicted gangland boss Tony Accardo, 54, of income tax evasion—the same crime that landed his notorious predecessor, Al Capone, in a federal prison 28 years ago.

The stocky Accardo faces a possible maximum sentence of nine years in prison and fines totaling $15,000. Judge Julius Hoffman of U. S. District Court will pronounce sentence Nov. 18, if a motion for a new trial is overruled that day. A jury of six men and six women returned its verdict Friday.

The crime that brought the wealthy Accardo's conviction held other irony: The head of a reputed multimillion-dollar crime syndicate falsely declaring $3,993 as business expenses for his flashy red sport car.

Accardo heard the verdict impassively, then told newsmen coldly: "I still have no comment."

Like Capone, Accardo never was convicted of a serious crime until the tax people went to work on him. During the past 30 years he frequently was questioned about slayings of mobsters rivaling the Capone gang—including the 1929 St. Valentine's Day massacre of seven men in a North Side garage.

Minor Changes Noted In Official Vote Count

Working late Friday night, the County Election Board at East Liverpool completed the official tabulation of votes cast in Tuesday's record-breaking election, but only minor changes were noted.

The official count will be certified to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office today, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

O'Hanlon noted the official count showed 48,879 voters cast ballots Tuesday, a gain of 49 over the number in the unofficial tabulation Tuesday night.

It surpassed by 2,789 votes the previous high of 46,090 recorded in the 1952 presidential election.

To Study City Government Revision

City Charter Group To Organize Soon

Newly-elected members of the Salem Charter Study Commission are expected to hold an organizational meeting within the next week.

John Rance, commission member, said the membership will choose a chairman, vice chairman and secretary-treasurer to serve during the commission's one-year tenure.

The 15-member commission, approved by voters in Tuesday's general elections, will study the charter form of government and the possibility of applying that method to the city of Salem.

Reports of the commission's studies and recommendations are to be made periodically at public hearings during the next year. If the commission decides the charter form of government will be best for Salem, the question will be put up for public vote at the November, 1961, general elections.

Those elected to the 15-member commission in Tuesday's general election balloting are James G. Aldom, restaurant owner and former president of City Council; Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, John Herman, Jr., a foreman at the Eljer plant; Atty. Lozier Caplan, at one time city solicitor;

Fred (Ike) Koenech, chairman of City Council's finance committee; Atty. Bryce Kendall, president of the Salem Board of Education; Jack Rance, personnel manager of the E. W. Bliss Co.; Atty. Guy Mauro, former lieutenant-governor of the Kiwanis Club;

Ford Joseph, Jr., vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and manager of National Dry Cleaners; Michael Schuller, president of City Council and personnel director at American-Standard Corp. plant here;

Carl Abe, city councilman and an accountant at Deming Co.;

Four Persons Killed In Ashtabula Crash

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Four persons were killed today when the automobile in which they were driving went off Ohio 46 south of here and crashed into two utility poles. The highway patrol said the car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

The dead are: Gerald J. Gilliland, 26, of Linesville, Pa., believed to be the driver; James Manning, 29 and Orville Kirby, 37, both of Ashtabula; and Donald Rhodes, 41, of North Kingsville.

The accident occurred at 3 a. m. The highway patrol said the 1958 model automobile was northbound on the road, 20 miles west of the Pennsylvania line.

The car failed to negotiate a right curve in the road and went off the left side of the road, smashing into the two poles. All the occupants were thrown from the hurtling vehicle, the patrol said.

Little Hope Held For Reversal Of Election Results

GOP Says Nixon May Gain Lead In Popular Ballots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans clung to the hope today that recounts and absentee ballot tabulations might give Vice President Richard M. Nixon a popular vote lead over Sen. John F. Kennedy.

That was the practical valuation put by spokesmen for Nixon on a request by GOP National Chairman Thurston B. Morton for a recheck of the vote in 11 states. Nixon was not consulted about Morton's recheck request, an aide said.

While some Republican leaders had dreamed of overturning Tuesday's results which gave Kennedy more than enough electoral votes for the presidency, Nixon's top aides made it clear they expect no such outcome.

May Gain Popular Vote Lead

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, and Robert Finch, his campaign manager, did say they believe the vice president may gain a lead over Kennedy in the final count of popular votes. They didn't say so, but any such result would be regarded as a boost for Nixon to run again in 1964.

When Morton asked for the recounts in 11 states, he told GOP officials in the states to look into "purported vote frauds."

Reports from some of the 11 states indicated that few local Republican officials were hopeful of changing the results in any significant way. Some, in fact, said there was no evidence of fraud.

The latest Associated Press tally, with 1,672 voting places uncounted, showed: Kennedy 33,627, 229, Nixon 33,348,397. Nixon Not Consulted Finch and Klein told a news conference Friday that Nixon was not consulted about Morton's move for recounts or inquiries into any irregularities in Illinois, Texas, Delaware, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

In Miami, Fla., where he went for a post-election vacation, Nixon said he knew nothing about plans for legal action which might lead to vote recounts in states where Kennedy was declared the winner.

Finch and Klein said Nixon was standing by Tuesday's results and has no plans to take any affirmative action toward trying to upset them.

In a 12th state, California, Republicans were hoping that the counting of absentee ballots would Driver Hurt As Car Flips On Lisbon Rd.

A 62-year-old Hookston, Pa., man is in "fair" condition at Salem City Hospital as a result of one of three separate accidents on area highways Friday night and early this morning which also injured two other persons and brought citations to three drivers.

Homer Mercer of Hookston is in City Hospital with a possible concussion, fracture of the nose and lacerations of the nose and forehead. He was a passenger in a car driven by Walter W. Wolfe, 54, of East Liverpool, which went out of control on the Rt. 45 Lisbon Road, two miles south of Salem at 12:40 this morning.

The State Patrol said the vehicle rolled over once and landed on its top. Wolfe was cited for reckless operation. He was treated at City Hospital for bruises of the forehead and right knee, then released.

In a two-car accident at 11:25 last night north of North Jackson, Julia Hill, 43, of Warren received a fractured jaw and numerous cuts and bruises when the car in which she was a passenger crashed into the rear of another car at the intersection of Rt. 45 and Gladstone Rd.

The driver, Charles Ward, 44, of Warren was cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance. The other car involved was operated by Adam Goltz, 60, of RD 1, Mineral Ridge.

David C. Brant, 46, of East Liverpool was cited for failing to stop in an assured clear distance after rammed his car into the rear of a tractor-trailer rig at 11:45 p. m. Friday on Rt. 30, north of East Liverpool. Neither driver was injured.

POLICE BATTLE ALGIERS RIOTERS — Police pick up stones thrown by demonstrators and heave them back at their attackers on Rue Michelet, main street of Algiers, during Armistice Day uprising yesterday by anti-de Gaulle rioters. Man Breaks Out Of Sebring Jail

Area Authorities Join In Search

District authorities are hunting for a Sebring man who escaped from Sebring jail Friday night.

Richard E. Young, 23, of 647 1/2 W. Main St. was being held on a charge of breaking and entering. He was to have been transferred to the Mahoning County Jail at Youngstown in three days.

Police said Young unwound wire from the base of a straw broom, removed the nail that held the wire and formed a hook with the nail. With the hook and wire used as a fishing line, he managed to work loose a slidebar that held the cell door closed.

The search centered in Salem for a time when a car was reported stolen here 55 minutes after Young fled. However, the auto was later recovered here by the owner and police are skeptical that it had been taken by Young.

Police Chief Paul Gednetz of Sebring said he believed Young was on foot. He said the escapee had recently served 18 months in a federal penitentiary for auto theft.

Young lived for periods near Guilford Lake and Leetonia and authorities of those areas have been alerted.

Two cruisers of the Columbiana sheriff's department have joined in the search.

Donations Sought To Buy Yule Gifts For County Wards

The annual appeal to Columbiana County residents for financial aid for the Christmas fund for county foster-home children has been issued by Robert Bycroft, director of the County Welfare Department.

"Through the generosity of many county contributors last year, over $1,900 was collected," he said. Each child under the department's care received the gift he or she most desired, and with repeated help we hope to make that possible again this year," Bycroft said.

The goal this year has been set at $1,600, the same as in 1959. Bycroft pointed out Christmas is traditionally the day of plays for children the world over, adding, "These children throughout the county look to you for what their families should be doing and are not."

There are approximately 210 children being cared for in welfare homes and the Kyes Memorial Home in East Palestine.

Checks or donations should be made out or given to the Columbiana County Department of Welfare, and contents of gift packages should be labeled on the outside. If clothing is contributed, the size should be labeled. Bycroft said.

Refuses to Turn Over Ballot Files

U.S. Demand Ignored By Alabama Official

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Atty. Gen. McDonald Gallion, vowing to try to block a "federal fishing expedition," has ignored a Justice Department demand for Sumter County's voter registration files.

"I was served with a demand" to produce the Sumter voting records before Thursday, Gallion said, but he kept a tight lid on the files sought for possible evidence of prejudice against Negroes.

The Alabama official said Friday he refused to heed the Oct. 31 letter from U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers because of a state court order closing the records and putting them in Gallion's custody.

It has not been learned what the next federal step will be to find out if prospective Negro voters are being discriminated against in West Alabama county. Rogers' letter did not say.

Justice Department spokesmen in Washington declined comment on the next federal move. The issue usually goes into federal court.

The sought-after registration files remained at Livingston, where a temporary restraining order issued by Circuit Judge E. F. Hildreth Oct. 11 prohibits federal agents from inspecting them.

Hildreth's injunction put the Sumter records under Gallion's supervision and directed him and the county voter registrars to keep their contents private.

Gallion obtained the state court order the same day four FBI men arrived at Livingston with photographic copying gear and a letter from Rogers. They were refused access to the registration files.

University In Cuba Expels Pro-Castro Student Group

HAVANA (AP)—A battle between Roman Catholic educators and the Castro regime for control of Villanueva University here appeared to be building up today, after the expulsion of a pro-Castro student group.

Semiofficial Revolution and El Mundo, a Castro-controlled newspaper, termed the expulsions a reprisal against supporters of the Cuban revolution. The expulsions were ordered Thursday by the university's Board of Discipline.

The pro-Castro students were ousted after publishing a manifesto accusing a Catholic official at Villanueva of planning to close the university and blame it on "persecution by the revolutionary government."

Villanueva University long has been the center of Catholic student opposition to the Communist infiltration of Cuba.

The Castro-controlled Federation of University Students immediately invited the expelled Villanueva students to enroll at Havana University, which they control.

University sources said the students had been expelled partly because they served as informers for Castro officials and tried to stir up violence within the university.

Pro-Government Forces Disarm Rebel Troops

Radio Station, Other Strategic Points In Saigon Recaptured

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem's loyal forces appeared today to have smashed an uprising by paratroopers who seized most of this tropical capital before dawn Friday.

The pro-government forces announced by radio in mid-morning that they had recaptured the radio station and several strategic points about the city.

The broadcast said the rebel leader, Col. Nguyen Khanh Thi, escaped in a jeep as government forces began encircling the city.

It said the 3,000 paratroopers and marines, who staged Friday's pre-dawn attack on the presidential palace and proclaimed the overthrow of President Diem, surrendered on all sides after putting up weak resistance. It claimed the insurgents were being disarmed.

The counteroffensive by Diem's armed forces, led by Gen. Le Van Kim, was launched against the city early today.

President Diem in a nationwide broadcast urged the population to remain calm and disregard insurgent appeals.

"To protect the people's life and interests I have ordered the insurgents to surrender, but they failed to obey the right cause," he said. "I therefore, gave orders to the Vietnamese armed forces to settle the matter with them."

Will Punish Rebels The armed forces fulfilled their duty, he added, and the insurgents will be punished. He paid tribute to "those courageous combatants who died for the right cause."

The city had awakened to the sounds of gunfire.

Within 45 minutes pro-Diem broadcasts began coming from the radio station that had been in the hands of rebel paratroopers.

By afternoon the situation in the city was becoming calm again.

But a full assessment of the consequences of the apparently short-lived insurrection was not possible.

Large crowds of demonstrators and various political groups supported the insurgents during the uprising Friday.

Trying Vinh Le, speaker of the pro-Diem national assembly, went on the air today and accused the insurgents of complicity with Communists and demanded that they be denounced and publicly punished.

The leaders of the revolt said they acted to overthrow Diem's "family dictatorship" and to strengthen the nation against Communist infiltration from North Viet Nam. Most of them have been labeled pro-Western in their sympathies.

The counterattacking army, navy and armored units, styling themselves the "liberation forces" broadcast that they recaptured the radio station, police and security headquarters and other key positions in the first 45 minutes.

"We have captured and killed many insurgent troops who tried to oppose us," the broadcast said.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
Power for Overcoming Difficulties

A thrilling thing has happened to a husband and wife who came to me last December for advice about a problem. The retail business enterprise from which they derive their livelihood had not been doing well. Disagreements and hard feelings had developed between the husband and his partner. They were deeply worried about how to handle this deteriorating situation.

I have just received from the husband a letter beginning, "This is a progress report." He reminds me, "The sharing of our problem with you started last year with an interview that took place that snowy day just before Christmas. We left you feeling that we had the world by the tail. We were full of enthusiasm and full of hope that we would master our difficulty."

Well, apparently, they had not yet really found the right approach, for the "report" continues: "But things didn't seem actually to change much as the months rolled by. We felt we were praying right as you had instructed us, and we felt we were keeping our thinking straight. But things in the business just seemed to be going from bad to worse."

Lisbon Social

A call has been sent out by the Lisbon Council of Church Women for good used clothing for the clothing drive for world service. Mrs. Edgar Sommers is the chairman of the project.

The request is for clothing for all ages, women's flat heel shoes, men's work shoes, children's shoes, galoshes and light weight blanket.

Those who have something to donate should deliver it to the First Christian Church next Friday. The church will be open from 9:30 a.m. on. Packing will begin at 1:30 p.m. It is requested that each church have a representative to help with the packing.

Donors may call HA 4-3237 if they have no way to get articles to the church.

Reports were given. A program on child mental health was given. It consisted of a taped discussion between Mrs. Marilyn Solak and Judge Louis Tobin and Cornell Monda, consulting psychologist.

Miss Betty Hineman was presented her jewel pin.

The next meeting will be on Thursday, Jan. 12, at 8 p.m. at the high school. An executive board meeting was called for 7:30.

Nixon Family Vacation At Florida Resort

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon is back on familiar Florida vacation ground, and looking as carefree as before the days of the gruelling presidential campaign.

Comment on the lost election was out, the vice president said. "If I say anything, it might be misconstrued."

Nixon and his family plan to vacation at Key Biscayne, Miami harbor resort island where they were frequent visitors before Nixon won the Republican nomination to succeed President Eisenhower.

The site is about 80 miles south of Palm Beach, where President-elect John F. Kennedy arrived Friday night for a working vacation at the Kennedy family's ocean-side home.

The vice president said he knew nothing of plans of Republican national committee to start legal action that might lead to a recount of votes in 11 states.

HARDY'S WIDOW WEDS LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Ben A. Price, one of the owners of Winslow Manufacturing Co., Cleveland electronics firm, Friday married Mrs. Lucille Hardy, widow of movie comedian Oliver Hardy of Laurel and Hardy fame. Price, 51, wed his 45-year-old bride before a justice of the peace in the Little Chapel Around the Corner.

Kennedy Relaxing In Florida Haven

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy took refuge at a quiet haven on the Atlantic shore today from the turmoil of politics and crowds.

For the first time in weeks Kennedy had on tap only rest and relaxation after the gruelling campaign which reached a glorious climax for him in victory last Tuesday over Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The 43-year-old senator arrived here Friday night at 10:03 p.m. after a flight from his home at Hyannis Port, Mass. On the way Kennedy's private plane made a brief stop in Washington where he left his wife Jacqueline and their daughter Caroline, 3.

Mrs. Kennedy is expecting their second child in about three weeks and her doctor advised against her coming to Florida.

The President-elect is staying here at the rambling Spanish-style home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain. He expects to remain for about two weeks, resting mainly but inevitably also doing some planning for the tremendous task of taking over direction of the government Jan. 20.

The only scheduled interruption of the projected two-week vacation will come next Wednesday when Kennedy plans to fly to Texas for a conference with Lyndon B. Johnson, elected to the vice presidency.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Charter Commission's Job

Fifteen successful members of the Salem Charter Commission are awaiting only their official certification of election from the County Election Board before tackling the assignment for which they volunteered.

The 15 are the voters' choice of a commission which, in the months ahead, will write a charter form of government for Salem. The type of charter recommended will come after serious study of the city's present system of government and methods of improving it.

The charter itself will not be voted on until the general election a year from now and all citizens will receive a copy of the draft at least a month before that date—Nov. 14, 1961.

Members of the Commission are to be congratulated on their election and 11 other unsuccessful candidates are to be commended for their interest. It was unfortunate that several outsiders tried vainly to influence the selection of a non-partisan commission by last-minute promotion, a stupid act that might have jeopardized the program that is designed to help the community's progress, not hinder it. Actually, the "stunt" backfired.

The Charter Commission is performing an important civic duty. They have our wholehearted support.

The Chinese Really Mean It

There have been 10 years to think things over since the Communist Chinese poured into the Korean War, to the dismay of the United States, which bore the brunt of the fighting for the United Nations.

To this day it is impossible to see how a failure of communication with such disastrous consequences could have been averted in 1950, even more frightening than what happened then is the prospect it might happen again.

United Nations forces had paused at the 38th parallel in September 1950. It was agreed by top United Nations officials that Gen. MacArthur had authority to order a crossing, but the point was indecisive.

South Korean troops under Gen. MacArthur's command crossed the 38th parallel on Oct. 1. On Oct. 7, the U.N. General Assembly voted 47-5 with seven abstentions to authorize the crossing. On the same day, the Army First Cavalry crossed the line.

That was a "crossing of the Rubicon," but the fact was not known until a month later when Gen. MacArthur notified the United Nations that a "new foe" had appeared in North Korea some 60,000 Chinese Communists with another 60,000 estimated to be on their way to Korea from Manchuria.

The climactic blow was struck on Nov. 28 when a Chinese counterattack nearly doomed the Allied expedition in Korea and deprived the United Nations forces of any chance to score a real victory. What happened?

It is now historic fact that India's ambassador in Peiping sent New Delhi full reports that Communist China would regard a crossing of the 38th parallel as a hostile act threatening its security and would not tolerate it. This information was transmitted to the United States and Great Britain. Yes, it was not taken seriously. By January, the Allied troops were pushed back beyond Seoul. There had been more than a defeat; there had been a rout.

When it was too late, everybody knew the Chinese really meant it when they said a crossing of the 38th parallel would be regarded as a hostile and threatening act.

But at the time, no one even knew there had been an edict to that effect relayed to the United States by New Delhi.

Campaign Was a Great Success

A voter turnout like the wait-in-line crowds that showed up throughout the country Tuesday makes an election official feel like a minister preaching to a standing-room-only congregation on Easter morning.

What could we do to fill the pews every Sunday?

But if the minister has thought through the proposition, he smiles inwardly and is of good cheer. He is grateful for a turnout on Easter Sunday. He is not remorseful about the other 51 Sundays.

The election system is still in good shape if there is a heavy turnout for presidential elections. As for the other elections, it is just as well that only those voters who are sufficiently informed to know what they are about show up to vote in them.

It can be agreed these days that national elections are what they always have been in fact, although it was not customary to admit. They are emotional binges during which candidates and voters go through the motions of discussing issues but only for the purpose of creating popular excitement.

This the two candidates did willingly and enthusiastically in 1960. They did it with telling effect. They stimulated a record number of voters into showing up at the polls to discharge themselves of pent-up convictions pro and con, feelings for and against and devotion to the republic, according to their individual lights.

The campaign was a success. Election Day was a triumph of electoral enthusiasm.

Never before had so many Americans lined up to exercise their franchises. Popular sovereignty had been vindicated.

Talking Things Over

The lady on the telephone was complaining. She didn't like the Wednesday cartoon on The News editorial page which depicted a dejected Republican elephant trudging down the walk from the White House, as the result of Senator Kennedy's election to the presidency.

"When President Eisenhower leaves office," she said, "he will walk out the door in all his glory."

To which we agreed, and then added, "President Eisenhower will go down in history as one of the nation's greatest presidents. In peace and in war he has given a dedicated life."

And then we explained to the caller that the editorial page sketches are intended to be comical and frequently satirical. The drawing of the elephant represented the Republican party; not any one person in particular.

She felt relieved. We had won back a friend.

By H. I. Phillips

for any lady to have to wait for a verdict she is fit company for man and bookstall.

A retired rear admiral, 40 years in the Navy, was fined $15,000 on a charge of sending 504 bottles of liquor home marked "household effects." Well, liquor has become such a common feature in the homes of this country that the labeling could be called accurate (40 years of naval service can make a man pretty thirsty at the finish and cause him to overestimate supplies needed to attain his last objective.)

Millions of drug clerks and doctor's patients will be happy to know something is to be done about the handwriting of physicians as revealed on prescriptions, hospital charts, etc. Reporting that important records can't be read in hospital libraries because of "handwritten," and that doctors, when called in, can't read their own writing, one big hospital is starting penmanship "clinics" for physicians. (If a man to whom you trust your life can't even tell what's the matter with his hand writing, it's time for action, Mt. Sinai Hospital declares.) Probably its because of haste. The doctor tells a patient to relax, take it easy and never hurry. Then he dashes off a prescription with such speed it takes a conference to diagnose its meaning.

GOP's County Smile

Columbiana County Republican leaders probably are more jubilant than the Democrats after analyzing the results of Tuesday's general election. The Republicans will hold the majority on the county commissioners board after Jan. 1 by virtue of the re-election of Walter Hunston and the return of former Commissioner Galen Greenisen. Democrat R. Max Gard lost, leaving Frank Wilson as the lone Democrat in that office.

State Rep. Clarence Wetzel, a Republican, was returned to the Ohio legislature and Warren Bettis of Salineville, assistant prosecuting attorney, also from the GOP ranks, was named to the extra seat in the Ohio Assembly.

Two admired Democrats who retained their offices at the Courthouse were County Treasurer Vincent Judge and Clerk of Courts Carl Stacey.

But sizing up all of the results, including a strong margin for Richard Nixon for president, the county Republicans have more to smile about.

We wish some TV crooners would really pitch their voice—far, far away.

How comforting and still the air!
No campaign speeches anywhere;
No warnings of impending doom—
No rasping cry, "A man than whom...."

BROADWAY'S LATEST musical "The Unsinkable Mollie Brown" is based on a true story, but the play seems so farfetched it leaves customers exclaiming, "How unbelievable can musical books get!" The star is so wonderful the title could be changed to "The Unsinkable Tammy Grimes." Mollie Brown, by the way, is a sort of Eliza Doolittle of the mining camps and high seas.

Admitting that it takes less work to cut hair of a baldheaded man than a man with a bushy growth, a New Jersey barber has announced he will make estimates before fixing his charge. (This is a great break for baldies and comes just as we were going to send our scalp out for competitive bids.)

One Nobel prize winner says he got ideas for important discoveries in nuclear physics by watching bubbles in a pitcher of beer. That was way back when a man could afford a pitcher of beer on a professor's salary. British jurors have decided that "Lady Chatterley's Lover" written over 30 years ago, is not objectionable. All Present and Accounted For

Reform the Campaign

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In the course of the next four years, responsible party leaders should reconsider the sort of campaigning which we have witnessed this year.

The public's curiosity and the advent of new mechanical devices have created conditions which not only demand more from the candidates than any human beings should bear but frustrate any real examination of the issues by voters.

Television and the airplane have not helped the public to understand what is going on. Perhaps democracy will, as it has in many instances in world history, destroy itself.

No one who saw, on the ground or on the television screen, the exhausted candidates in their final two weeks needs to be told what the physical exertions were.

WE HAVE HEARD a lot about the times demanding young men as candidates. The wisdom of that can be questioned but even young men can be battered into the ground by too much campaigning. And considering the fact that many ailments in these days, especially coronary failure, become more prevalent among men in the 40s and 50s, this sort of strain might well provide us, as it has in the past, with presidents who are unable to bear the weight of office after election.

The burdens of the presidency exceed those of any other job on earth, excepting, perhaps, that of the prime minister of the Soviet Union.

The dizzying hopping from place to place by air by the candidates involves such hazards that only the grace of luck has spared one or the other, or even both, a fatal crash.

To meet an engagement in Boston, Nixon flew into an airport which had been closed because of dense fog.

On another occasion, the Nixon plane made an instrument landing at Casper, Wyo., in a snowstorm which covered the ground to the depth of seven inches.

The flight to Alaska in November weather was nothing less than a stunt.

If one candidate had been killed in the course of these perils and exertions, the choice of the voters would have narrowed to one. For despite provision for a substitution, voters would have had little option except to vote for the one they knew best.

THIS SORT of campaign provides less education than that conducted by William McKinley, who limited his campaigning to his own front porch.

That was a campaign in which William Jennings Bryan traveled more miles and received relatively few more votes than preceding Democratic candidates who moved sparingly and talked very little.

Since the pace of the campaigning during the past six weeks called for several speeches by each candidate each day, no newspaper could reflect in any detail what they were saying. Toward the end, both candidates were incessantly repeating themselves.

Speeches delivered in the midst of howling mobs in Chicago, Los Angeles, and New York were reduced to a few short sentences and gestures. Stevenson in 1956 and Nixon to a limited degree this year tried to fill in the gaps with papers on specific subjects.

In the turmoil, these were read by a relatively few. And so an uninformed electorate has gone to the polls to vote for two completely wornout candidates. Considering what the candidates went through, they are lucky to be alive.

SIDE GLANCES

"Freddie has just moved into the neighborhood, Mommie, and he's telling me the story of his life!"

Fulbright's Role

By JAY G. HAYDEN

Tagged as Next Secretary of State

A top adviser of President-elect Kennedy, asked after the vote was in whether it will be Adlai Stevenson or Chester Bowles who will be our next secretary of state, said very firmly, "Neither one of them."

Who then? The answer was: "If I was betting it would be for Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas."

The prophecy at this stage is precarious but a canvas of the possibilities in light of the current election definitely favors Fulbright.

First and foremost, Sen. Kennedy's suggestion that, if elected, he might move to eliminate the long-time southern domination of the Democratic majority in Congress, clearly is out.

Based on returns for both the Senate and House, the South more than ever is in the saddle.

Certainly Sen. Kennedy cannot hope to achieve a majority in either legislative branch without a large share of dixerat congressional members on his side.

This means that he somehow must make a major effort to win southern Democrats back into the regular fold.

Far from predicting that Kennedy would allocate management of the whole range of foreign relations as a device for promoting intra-Democratic unity, benefits from such a move are self-evident.

CONSTANT EMPHASIS during the campaign on the idea that the choice for a Democratic secretary of state lay between Stevenson and Bowles long since has been twiggled as an embarrassment to Kennedy, on the ground that he was increasingly disenchanted with both of them.

Bowles almost certainly is debarrd by the all but universal prediction that another Connecticut citizen, Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff, is as good as "in" for attorney-general.

Himself from Massachusetts, Sen. Kennedy scarcely would include two men from next-door neighbor Connecticut among the four top jobs in his Cabinet.

In importance, the four rank as follows: secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, secretary of defense and attorney general.

As to Stevenson, there are various reasons why he will not be chosen, one of the least of them that selection of him would constitute a gross rebuff to Bowles, who abandoned his attempt for reelection to Congress to act as Kennedy's chief foreign policy adviser. There are other grounds for conjecture that Stevenson's stock in the Kennedy appointment market has sunk.

Arriving back from a foreign tour last April, Stevenson was met in New York by Sen. Kennedy with a plea for support.

Kennedy asked especially that Stevenson (1) disclaim any part in a collective stop - Kennedy movement, and, (2) that he denounce injection of religion as a campaign issue.

Stevenson obliged both ways, thereby leading observers to believe that he was drifting toward the Kennedy camp. But thereafter Stevenson diverted more and more, climaxing his activities by his projection as a symbol of the "egghead" opposition to Kennedy very much in evidence at the nominating convention in Los Angeles.

SINCE THEN Stevenson has given vigorous service to the Kennedy cause but, as most Democratic politicians profess, without changing a single vote.

The crowning incident was an overwhelming swing of Stevenson's downstate Illinois into the Nixon column.

In contrast Sen. Fulbright has gone to bat for Kennedy again and again over the past few months, at great danger to his own political future.

Just as Kennedy was under hot attack for saying President Eisenhower might well have apologized to Nikita Khrushchev for the smushup at Paris, Fulbright's committee issued a politically divided report, critical of administration handling of the U2 spy-plane incident.

The committee majority condemned permission for the flight right on the eve of the Paris meeting and condemned President Eisenhower for the statement that he, personally, had given advance approval to the venture.

More important, perhaps, Sen. Fulbright had been heart and center of the late-campaign claims by Sen. Kennedy that Eisenhower's own U.S. Information Service "suppressed" polls among foreign peoples, indicating that U.S. "prestige" is on the decline.

Only Sen. Fulbright, among the Democrats, was in a position to disclose such findings in defiance of an Eisenhower order for secrecy.

Church Fund Raising Trend

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—Tambourines still jingle on street corners and humble nuns remain at their familiar posts, but across the land the chore of church fund raising has become more and more the business of commercial pros.

Some churchmen and churchgoers deplore the trend; others see it not only as a necessity but a boon.

Advocates have found that professionally conducted campaigns usually don't last as long, are more efficient and demand less time of volunteer church committees.

This year America's churches will collect about $3.5 billion with about one billion of it earmarked for new construction.

Experts estimate 70 per cent of the sum will come through formal campaigns directed for the most part by commercial firms or professionally trained churchmen.

The Rev. Davis Rice Holt III, in a master's thesis at Union Theological Seminary of Virginia, believes professional fund raising methods often involve spurious explanations of scripture and promote the Pharisaism of conspicuous pledging.

Commercial organizations, he said, often are pagan in nature and operate on a profit motive with their only objective getting the money, period.

Dr. T. K. Thompson, director of stewardship for the National Council of Churches, takes a directly opposite view:

"Retaining professional counsel for fund raising is not essentially different from retaining architectural counsel in the construction of a new church building," he said.

But Dr. Thompson insists commercial firms must maintain certain ethical standards if they would get a church's business.

Church and church related construction—still riding the crest of a wave born a decade ago—is the main reason for the emergence of the professional fund raiser in the nation's churches.

Collection plates just don't get the job done, pastors say.

take the state out of Kennedy's electoral column and put it into Nixon's. But the first tallies indicated the absentee vote would not swing the state to Nixon.

At the polls Tuesday, Kennedy took a 37,140 lead in California. Nixon would need almost two-thirds of the state's 200,000 absentee ballots to erase that.

Officials counted the first 3,400 of the California absentee ballots Friday. The totals were in Nixon's favor but they enabled him to cut down Kennedy's lead by only 438 votes.

Finch said any recounts or other action taken will be entirely in the hands of local Republicans in the 11 states. He added that "any hopes we have that the national result will be overturned by local action in the states is very slight."

Finch went on to say that the most any Republican could hope for would be to reduce Kennedy's electoral total, which now stands at 332, to slightly below the necessary 269 margin. He said this would merely throw the election into the hands of uncommitted electors. Eight of these were elected in Mississippi and six in Alabama.

One thing is certain, intimates say, no third party is involved. This apparently was in reference to a rumored romance last month between the actress and French actor Yves Montand. The pair met during the filming of a picture, "Let's Make Love," in which they co-starred.

It was the third marriage for Miss Monroe, 44, and the second for Miller, 11 years her senior. She formerly was married to James Dougherty, a Los Angeles policeman, and to Joe DiMaggio, the former baseball star. Miller's first wife was the former Mary Grace Slattery.

"We have seized about 300 rifles and mortar at the radio station and promise to fight until our last man to restore the peace and security under the leadership of President Ngo Dinh Diem."

Rebel troops were urged to surrender "for the sake of the country and the people," and were promised clemency in the name of Diem.

The radio report said army and navy units, supported by armored forces, led by Maj. Nguyen Mins Man, led the counterassault from the nearby southern province of Mytho.

The counteroffensive easily overcame paratroop detachments that attempted to block the roads into Saigon, it added.

Unconfirmed reports said thousands of loyal land forces from the 120,000-man army, with the support of the navy, were landing at the mouth of the Saigon River and moving toward this tropical capital.

The swiftly changing situation followed the surprising coup Friday when four paratroop battalions, supported by a U. S.-trained marine battalion, seized key points in the capital and attacked the presidential palace.

The insurgents' avowed aim was to end what they called the "family dictatorship" of the 59-year-old Diem and strengthen the nation's fight against infiltrating Communists from North Viet Nam.

Diem, a staunch pro-Westerner, apparently remained in his palace even after his 200-man palace guard was overwhelmed despite fierce resistance in which 20 to 30 persons were reported killed.

Salem Closes Season With 7-6 Squeaker Over Girard

Devan to Davidson Aerial, Kick By Sulea Pull Game from Fire

Indians Score on Pass in Second Quarter of Tight Defensive Battle

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

A tainted 36-yard scoring pass from quarterback Gary Devan to end Don Davidson and a successful extra point kick by Rick Sulea with only 2:15 left in the game enabled the Salem Quakers to storm from behind and nip a spirited, underdog Girard eleven, 7-6 Friday night on the Indians' home field.

This was the final game of the season for both clubs. Salem wound up with a 9-1 record while Girard settled for a 3-6 mark. The hard-luck Indians lost their six games this season by a total of just 37 points.

The fray last night was a contest between two slow-moving clubs, both of whom relied heavily upon fine defensive units. Although both touchdowns were scored via the airways, most of the action took place in a head-banging session in the line.

GIRARD OPENED the scoring in the second quarter shortly after end Jim Patti of the Indians recovered Dave Edling's fumble on the Salem 23. Two running plays advanced the pigskin to the 18 from where substitute quarterback Mushrush hit Jerry Hulvachik with a pass in the coffin corner and the halfback made a fine catch of the ball for the six-pointer.

In what proved to be a real break for the Quakers, Don Davidson crashed through and spilled Mushrush when the quarterback tried to pass for the extra points. Salem threatened later in the second period when it moved for a first and 10 on the Girard 25 on a 15-yard pass from Devan to halfback John DeFavero. However, on the next play Devan was smothered as he went back to pass and Girard's big center, Ray Hurley, took the ball away from him.

Hurley carried the pigskin into the end zone but the officials ruled that Devan had fumbled the ball on the ground and it was brought back and given to Girard on the Indians' 34 yard line.

Girard took a 6-0 lead into the dressing room at halftime. The fired-up Indians held the Quakers to a net of only three yards on the ground in the first half while they managed 58.

IN THE DRESSING ROOM, Salem Coach Blaine Morton told his first unit to start playing football and move the ball for a touchdown the first time they got the pigskin in the second half or he would take them out of the game.

Girard took the second half kick-off and after picking up one first down, punted to the Salem 33. Ron Janovec was stopped for no gain, Chuck Hertel picked up four yards, Devan was thrown for a two-yard loss, Sulea punted on fourth down—and out of the line-up came Salem's first unit.

Girard was forced to punt again and Salem took over on its own 27. The new backfield for Salem included Bill Beery, Dave Edling, Fred Kaiser and Jim Gibb. This unit had no more success in moving the ball than the first stringers did against the hard-charging Girard line and once again Sulea was called upon to punt.

The next time the Quakers got the ball, the starting backfield of Devan, Janovec, and DeFavero came back into the lineup but Edling stayed in at halfback in place of Hertel. This unit blasted the ball for three straight first downs before getting bogged down.

MIDWAY THROUGH the final period, the Quakers started applying pressure on the Indians. After tackle Butch Crawford recovered quarterback Phil Koppel's fumble on the Girard 40, Janovec opened up with a fine individual effort and bulldozed the Quakers deep into Indian territory. The big fullback carried the ball to the Girard 10 but a 15-yard clipping penalty set the Quakers back to the 25. With only 3:30 left in the game, Girard arose to the occasion and took over on downs on their own 16.

Fullback Butch Kovachik banged into the line twice but only got one yard on each attempt. The Indians then elected to try a quick kick on third down but the ball traveled only 22 yards and DeFavero returned it four yards to the Girard 36. The scoreboard clock showed 2:30 remaining.

On the next play, Devan moved out to his right, spotted Davidson on the two yard line and cut loose with a pass. Davidson was behind two Girard defenders but the pass was short. Mushrush moved into position to intercept but the pigskin slipped through his arms and the alert Davidson with his quick pair of hands took the ball and stepped into the end zone.

FOR THE ALL important extra point, Devan held as Sulea booted his time and booted the ball perfectly between the uprights. This was the same combination which enabled the Quakers to pull a 7-6 game out of the fire in the final minutes earlier in the

Russian Jockey Claims Foul

Bald Eagle Captures $70,000 International

By GEORGE BOWEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — The Washington, D. C. International was laid to rest for the ninth time Friday, but the wake was livelier than the event.

Bald Eagle took the starch out of the race by zooming off to a four-length lead in less than a quarter of a mile, increasing it to 10 after a mile and being a safe two at the end of the mile and half.

Harry F. Guggenheim's 5-year-old thus became the first two-time winner of the International and fourth to do it in American racing colors. The victory also supported his bid in the voting for best horse of the year in this country.

But Bald Eagle's supremacy was challenged by the trainer for Harmonizing, E. W. King. The Russians in turn tried to yell foul against Harmonizing.

On top of that, the favorite French starter Puissant Chef dumped his rider at the start to keep boiling the aftermath talk of the International.

While Harmonizing came on to finish second to Bald Eagle, King wasn't satisfied for the horse he claimed for $6,500 in July.

Harmonizing was left practical-

In the fourth period fullback Willard Leake tallied the third Bulldog touchdown when he plunged over from the one-yard line. Istnick's run for the extra points was good.

East Palestine concluded its scoring when Istnick passed 15 yards to end Miche Massey for the Bulldogs' fourth TD.

The win gives East Palestine a 7-1 season record, 6-1 in league competition.

Niles Upsets Once-Proud Alliance, 16-14

Niles McKinley, Ohio's eighth-ranked team by the Associated Press, bumped off second-ranked Alliance, 16-14, in a display of power football Friday night at Alliance.

Niles never trailed in the game. The Red Dragons piled up a 16-0 lead before Alliance picked up a second quarter touchdown which left the Aviators trailing 16-14 at halftime.

Alliance scored again in the fourth quarter, but a holding penalty on the conversion attempt put the ball on the 18 and a long pass was incomplete in the end zone. All-state fullback candidate Charley King, scored eight of Alliance's 14 points.

Niles has a 9-0-1 mark while Alliance stands with a record of eight wins and two losses. The Aviator's other loss was to top-ranked Massillon. Alliance still must face East Liverpool Friday night at East Liverpool.

Niles' tie game this year was with Farrell, Pa., a team that Salem beat 7-6.

Baltimore hasn't lost at Wrigley Field the last three seasons, and the Colts' over-all road record since 1956, the year Johnny Unitas came to play, is 17 and 10.

Bud Bucher Bows Out

Lisbon held the powerful Jackson team scoreless in the first period but the Stark County eleven broke loose for 14 points in the second quarter and 14 more in the third period before veteran Ricky Bowling put the Blue Devils in the scoring column in the fourth quarter on a 47-yard run to paydirt.

Bowling also picked up the extra points on a pass from Larry McPherson, a promising sophomore quarterback. Bowling wound up with 96 points for the season.

Tom Eckert passed 18 yards to Dave Day for Jackson's first touchdown. Jim Leonard bucked over from two yards out and Eckert carried over the extra points to make the score 14-0 in the first quarter.

Northwest's third period touchdowns were scored by halfback Wayne Longbrake on an 80-yard run and by Bill Zetler on a 48-yard pass from Eckert. Eckert converted again on a run after Zetler's touchdown.

Lisbon's touchdown in the fourth quarter came on a fancy play. McPherson tossed a short pass to end Roger McCaughin on the line of scrimmage who in turn handed off to Bowling who raced 47 yards for the score.

Colts Could Waltz to Title With Win Over Bears Sunday including 5-1 last season and 1-2 this year.

The Bears' game is a big one for the Colts, who are leading the Western Conference with a 5-2 record. After Sunday, they get a Sunday off, then face only second division teams—Detroit, Los Angeles and San Francisco twice.

A loss Sunday could knock Baltimore back into second place behind Green Bay. The Packers (4-2) are considered a 21-point cinch over the visiting Dallas Cowboys (0-7).

In the other Western game the Detroit Lions (2-4) are 3-point home favorites over the Los Angeles Rams (2-4-1). San Francisco (3-4) is idle.

The Philadelphia Eagles (5-1), driving for their first Eastern title since 1949, are home to the Washington Redskins (1-3-2). The Eagles are 13-point favorites to take a six-game winning streak into Yankee Stadium next week for the first of two important games with the defending champion New York Giants.

New York (4-1-1) has nothing but road victories, but the second-place Giants are 8-point home favorites to take the Pittsburgh Steelers (2-4-1).

The Giants could take over first if the Eagles lose, but if New York loses and third-place Cleveland (4-2) wins, the Browns take over second and the Giants drop to third.

The Browns rate 10 points better than the visiting St. Louis Cardinals, who are fourth in the East at 4-3.

Sebring Completes 2nd Winless Season

Boardman's high riding Spartans racked up their second straight victory since falling to Salem 13-8 by passing the Sebring Trojans, 40-6, last night on the Spartan gridiron.

The Spartans finished the season with a 6-4 record, while the Sebring eleven lost its 10th straight of the year and 19th over a two year period. Sebring was 0-7 in Tri-County League competition.

Bill Smith ripped off a 35 yard touchdown run to account for Sebring's only points.

Ike Asks Food to be Sent To Overseas Needy

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower has appealed to Americans to observe Thanksgiving Day by helping send food to less fortunate people around the world.

In proclaiming Nov. 24 as annual Thanksgiving Day, he called on Americans to contribute to voluntary relief agencies which have been shipping food packages overseas.

Eisenhower issued his annual proclamation as he relaxed on the Augusta National golf course on the fourth day of his Georgia vacation.

"Let us hope that some day, under a benevolent providence and through the best use of the world's God-given resources, each nation will have reason to celebrate its own Thanksgiving Day," Eisenhower said.

The President disclosed Friday he has given a go-ahead for his representative to discuss transfer of government power to the new Democratic regime.

Stock Market Soars to Biggest Gain In Over Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Business took the presidential election in stride without displaying any noticeable jitters about what changes the new Democratic administration might bring.

Financial leaders felt that the slimmest of President-elect John F. Kennedy's victory could result in a toning down of more radical maneuvers which had been contemplated.

The stock market shook off whatever apprehension it had over a Kennedy triumph and soared on Thursday to the greatest gain it has registered in more than a year.

This spurt climaxed seven straight days of advance by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks. The market declined moderately Friday as profit taking set in.

This week's volume was 13,742,858 shares compared with 13,462,497 the week before. Bond sales on the New York Stock Exchange totaled $22,432,000 this week against $25,103,000 the previous week.

The economic community was buoyed by the expectation of more spending under the Kennedy administration for defense, housing and schools.

But there was general agreement that many problems are ahead. Among them are general business conditions, unemployment and the outflow of gold.
